BOURBON HISTORY ATTRACTING GREAT INTEREST

The History of Bourbon County's Part in the World War, in four volumes, as compiled by Mrs. Fannie Sutherland and Mrs. Allie Dickson, recently on display in the window of Shire & Fithian, is attracting widespread interest, especially with the parents and friends of our soldier boys, whose war records are here given as complete as it was possible to be obtained. These records are for the most part in manuscript and when it is understood that this is the only complete record to be had, their value in a measure may be estimated.

On Saturday, November 11, these volumes were removed to the Soldier's Memorial Building, after which they were officially placed in a fire-proof vault in the Bourbon County Court House, where they will be accessible to the public. The committee is especially desirous that the boys look over the volumes and see their records, all of which will entitle Bourbon county an enviable chapter in History of the World War.

To the compilers of these volumes, not only the Kentucky Council of Defense, but the people of Bourbon county to a man, feel a deep sense of gratitude to these excellent women for the magnanimous gift they have contributed in behalf of Bourbon's boys.

BOURBON MAN MAKES BIG CATTLE DEAL

(Danville Advocate)

One of the largest deals that has been consummated in Boyle county for several months was the sale by Mr. Jere C. Caldwell of this city, to Mr. W. A. Thomason, of Bourbon county, one hundred and fifty-seven heavy, fat cattle, which were delivered recently. The price paid for this splendid bunch of classy beeves was 10 cents per pound. The bunch averaged a little the rise of one thousand and five pounds and is said to be one of the finest lot of Boyle County for the past several years. The cattle brought upwards of $23,000.

CAPT. WM. COLLINS APPOINTED CHIEF

Wm. Collins, son of the late John T. Collins, of Paris, has been chosen head of the field service division of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, according to announcement made by the Burley Tobacco Association officers coincidentally with the statement that since Mr. Collins took charge of the field service more than 21,000 members has been added to the association.

The total membership, so far as reported, with a number of counties out, is 76,531, and Chief Collins said it was likely that when all the contracts are in the membership will be more than 77,000.

James A. Kehoe, of Maysville, and his staff of workers reported 574 contracts and Mr. Kehoe wrote that he knew of at least 20 more not yet in and that he had set the mark at 600 additional for his territory, which includes Eastern Kentucky and Southwestern Ohio. The West Virginia and Eastern Ohio territory reported 60 additions, Laurel county 100, Washington 25, Hardin 50, Boyle 10, Anderson 30, Indiana 200, Marion county 50, Rockcastle 20, Adair county 75 and Nelson 50.

Mr. Collins' appointment is a recognition of his effective work as head of the field service division since Joseph Passonneau gave up the office to direct the organization of the dark tobacco growers' association.

Reports from Glasgow, where the auction market opened last week, were that 21,423 pounds of burley were sold at an average of $28.10 a hundred. Compared with 100,000 pounds at the opening sale last year at an average of $36 a hundred, or $7.90 a hundred lower than last year. The quality of the tobacco sold was said to be high.

BOURBON COUNTY CELEBRATES ARMISTICE DAY

The most elaborate Armistice Day exercises since the close of the great world war were held in Paris Saturday morning on the occasion of the dedication of the Bourbon County Memorial Building, and the unveiling of the bronze tablet in honor of those who lost their lives in their country's service during the war.

The hundreds of persons who witnessed the services began to arrive from every section of the county early Saturday morning. Clear skies, a smiling sun and almost summer weather combined to make the day an ideal one. The business houses and a large number of residences were decorated with bunting and flags.

The parade, which started from Seventh street entrance of the Paris High School building and marched to the open area provided between the court house and the Memorial Building, was composed of the following: Detachment of Paris police in new uniforms; fire department motor apparatus; Pageant of Paris High School pupils, under supervision of Miss Reba Lockhart; Erschberger's Band of Cincinnati; Bourbon County War Mothers, in autos; Millersburg Military Institute Cadets, forty-six, in uniform; By-The-Wayside History Club of P. H. S., garbed in historical costumes; Bourbon Post and visiting members of American Legion posts, four hundred children from Junior Department of Paris City Schools; Bourbon County Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster F. A. Scott; two floats, representing "The New Declaration of Independence," and the "Community Service Playgrounds;" City officials in autos.

At the beginning of the program Chairman James M. Caldwell introduced Rev. O. B. Crockett, pastor of the Paris Methodist church, who delivered the invocation. Led by Erschberger's Band the hundreds of school children sang the national anthem, during which the colors were raised on the flag pole over the Memorial Building, with appropriate military ceremonies.

Chairman Caldwell introduced Rev. Father William O'Hare, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, who, in a short and eloquent address, introduced the speaker of the day, W. C. G. Hobbs, of Lexington, who he called "an eminent American citizen." Mr. Hobbs delivered an eloquent and forceful address, paying a high compliment to the Bourbon county boys and the women of Bourbon county who served during the war, and especially to those twenty-two boys whose places were vacant in their homes when the war closed.

At the close of Mr. Hobbs' address, and during the singing of the national anthem by the school children, the bronze tablet set in the Broadway side of the Memorial Building, containing the names of the Bourbon county heroes, who made the supreme sacrifice, was unveiled. Little Miss Nancy Crockett, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Crockett, drawing aside the large American flag which had covered it. Underneath the tablet had been placed a large laurel wreath, tied with a large red, white and blue bow, placed there by Rev. T. S. Smylie, Commandant of the American Legion, as a tribute from the living to the dead. The tablet, designed and executed by Tiffany Company, of New York, bore the following inscription:

"This Building is Dedicated to The Men of Bourbon County Who Served Their Country During The World War 1917-1918"

Sacred To The Memory Of Those Who Died For Liberty, Justice and Peace.

Charles Adair, Joseph H. Holt, Bishop Batterton, William A. Huddleston, John Blythe, Reuben Brent Hutchcraft, Jr., Charles C. Butler, Raymond Leslie Link, James E. Cain, James Mahorney, Miller Casey, James Weaver Neal, Harry H. Chinn, Keller B. Sborne, Harry H. Cunningham, Strother Pruitt, Elgin Dalzell, Robert M. Rice, Clemmie Dunnigan, Luther Carl Shanks, James Fuller, William Vice.

Greater Love Hath No Man Than This: That a Man Lay Down His Life For His Friends."

The exercises closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Walter S. Cain, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

At noon lunch was served to members of the American Legion in the dinner room of the Memorial

BOURBON CIRCUIT COURT

The November term of the Bourbon Circuit Court was called at ten o'clock yesterday morning, with Special Judge James C. Dedman, of Cynthiana, presiding in place of Judge Robert L. Stout, who is in California for the winter. The Commonwealth was represented by Commonwealth's Attorney Victor Bradley and County Attorney D. D. Cline.

Through a misunderstanding Judge J. E. Childers, of Pikeville, arrived in Paris yesterday morning prepared to preside at the November term of Bourbon Circuit Court. Judge Childers returned to Pikeville, after being advised that Governor Morrow had assigned Judge Dedman to preside here.

After swearing in the Sheriff, M. Peale Collier, and his deputies, the Grand Jury was empaneled and sworn in, as follows: B. M. Renick, foreman; A. L. Burley, L. M. Vanhook, James Shea, H. W. Purdy, John K. Cahal, J. T. Jefferson, I. F. McPheeters, D. P. Jones, W. T. Linville, Houston Crouch and C. P. Cook.

Judge Dedman delivered his charge to the Grand Jury in a short statement. He said that in these times it was getting to the point where a grand jury was almost superfluous. He stated that like all other counties in the State, Bourbon had its percentage of law violations and that the grand jury knew what they were, and should take proper action on all cases presented for their consideration. He complimented the court officials, the county and city officials in their manner of upholding the law and stated that he had always heard Bourbon county had the best set of officials of any in the State. Referring to the illicit liquor traffic he urged the grand jury to promptly investigate all such infractions of the law, and do their duty in that particular respect. He stated that moonshining, once thought to be the especial privilege and occupation in the mountain sections, had now invaded the Bluegrass and seemed to be flourishing, in spite of all efforts to eradicate it. He complimented the officials on what they had done, and urged them to use every effort to suppress the traffic and convict those engaged in it. He gave the usual charge regarding investigation of all forms of law violation, and told the jury that as they were men of fine intelligence they would know just what to do without being told.

After the charge to the grand jury and disposing of some minor business the Court adjourned until this morning at nine o'clock, the grand jury remaining in session.

WOMAN SHOTS MAN NEAR SHAWHAN

Near Shawhan, Sunday afternoon, during an altercation between two men, named Wigglesworth and Barnett, Wm. Farmer, section boss on the Louisville and Nashville, endeavored to act as peacemaker, and got between the men endeavoring to separate them.

While thus engaged a woman ran to Mrs. Farmer, who resided near by, and told her that the men were fighting her husband. Mrs. Farmer secured her revolver, and going to the scene, fired one shot, taking effect in Wigglesworth's left arm, passing through into his left side. Mrs. Farmer stated that she became excited, and under the impression that her husband was being roughly treated, was taking his part.

Mrs. Farmer was placed under arrest by Sheriff M. Peale Collier and Deputy Sheriff James Gibson, and brought to Paris, where she was placed under a nominal bond, signed by Jos. Farmer, of Paris, and released from custody. It was alleged that the men were intoxicated.

A bottle of moonshine was alleged to have been found hidden in a chicken house at the Farmer home. Farmer was recognized for his appearance before County Judge George Batterton in the County Court.

There is a big and vital difference between the man who can't get mad, and the man who won't.

Building, which was beautifully decorated. The dinner was served by a committee of Bourbon County War Mothers. Nicely arranged in a show case in the front hall of the Memorial Building was a collection gathered overseas by Dr. E. M. Orr.

All the clubs embraced in the Bourbon County Federation of Women's Clubs took a prominent part in the proceedings, and were among those whose services were useful in the serving of the lunch at the Memorial Building.

WAR MOTHERS PLAN AID FOR EX-SOLDIERS

Mrs. James Douglas, Bourbon County War Mother, Mrs. Louis Wollstein, Bourbon County Chapter Secretary, and Mrs. Louis Rogers, chairman of the Finance Committee, attended the meeting of the Kentucky War Mothers, held in Lexington, at which representatives from all Chapters of the State were present. The meetings were held in the Phoenix Hotel parlors, with Mrs. John Graham Johns, of Winchester, State War Mother, presiding. Those present for the meeting were: Mrs. James Douglas, Bourbon county war mother; Mrs. L. Wollstein, Bourbon county chapter secretary; Mrs. Virgil McClure, State chapter secretary; Mrs. Peter Campbell, Louisville, State chapter corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Herring, Georgetown, State second vice war mother; Mrs. J. C. Dary, Clark county war mother; Mrs. John Arnold, Winchester, Clark county chapter secretary; Mrs. Wm. Dowell Oldham, State recording secretary.

Reports from various chapters showed especially active work. The Jefferson county chapter raised $3,111.81; Clark county, $70, and Montgomery county, $90.

Mrs. Gus L. Heyman was elected chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Mrs. William Dowell Oldham, national legislative chairman, was elected State legislative chairman and publicity manager; Mrs. Alice Walcutt, of Frankfort, was elected chairman of future work; Mrs. John Herring, chairman of history and research, and Mrs. Louis Rogers, of Paris, chairman of finance.

Each chairman will select her own committee, and other chairmen will be elected at the meeting to be held the first Monday in December. Mrs. Reuben Hutchcraft, advisory war mother, is chairman of the flag committee, the State Executive Board as a body being the committee members.

Regrets were expressed because of the continued illness of Mrs. Hutchcraft.

The hospitalization of men injured in service, endorsement of adjusted compensation for former service men, just compensation board, release of prisoners convicted for all except heinous offenses committed during service in the world war, army and navy be put on same basis

MRS. OFFUTT'S WILL PROBATED

In the County Court Friday, the last will and testament of the late Mrs. Jasper Offutt, who died at her home on the Lexington road, near Paris, last week, was probated by County Judge George Batterton. By the terms of the document, Mrs. Offutt left the sum of $3,000 to the Paris Presbyterian church, and $1,000 to its pastor, Rev. T. S. Smylie, and $1,000 to James Wheeler, a colored servant, who had been a faithful member of her household for many years.

Other beneficiaries are her heirs, who will get the rest of her property when all bequests are paid. They are Miss Julia A. Wilson, of Dallas, Texas; Julian C. Wasson, of Watsonville, Calif.; Mrs. Margaret C. Madera, Versailles; Mrs. Geo. Dunlap, Lexington; Mrs. Addie H. Childers, Versailles; Mrs. James Wilcott, Lexington; Miss Margaret Wilson McLeod, Bourbon county; Miss Louise Warford, and Mrs. L. B. Conway, Calif.; Miss Sue Johnson, Paris; Miss Jennie Whittington and Mrs. Dr. Posey, Frankfort.

Mrs. Offutt directed that Miss Julia A. Wilson, Mrs. Madera and Mrs. Dunlap shall share equally in the residue of the estate with her heirs, and that her personal effects be divided by Mrs. Jacob Jacoby, Mrs. Dunlap and Mrs. Madera.

The Bourbon-Agricultural Bank & Trust Company, of Paris, was appointed executor of the estate, the trust being accepted and bond furnished in the sum of $60,000.

EDITORIAL FLINGS

Remember the time when a Paris beau thought he wasn't dressed up unless he had about fifty cents' worth of perfume slavered over his coat?

Advertisers may comment on the importance of "getting the goods in the front window," but the best thing is to be sure that you have the real goods to go in the front window.

Did you ever stop to wonder why a railroad train on which there is no sleeper, no diner, no smoker, no water, no ventilation, no porter and no news butcher is termed an "accommodation train"?

Lingerie and liquor are interwoven in a lawsuit filed in a New York court to oust one of the partners of a lingerie shop who is alleged to be a "lady bootlegger." Well, haven't liquor and lingerie always spelled trouble?

You can safely bet your last cent that the fellow the kids and the dogs like and are not afraid of is all right at heart. It doesn't take either very long to know whether a man is all right with them, and they do not hesitate to show that they know it, either.

Age brings us nothing better than the growing understanding of how utterly useless and senseless it is to fuss and fume and fret over trifles that could be blown away in a breath. And all the fussing, fretting and fuming hurts the fusser more than anyone else.

News dispatch says: "Fashionable women in Paris, France, are abandoning cigarettes and smoking pipes." It looks as if emancipation is in sight for the married man whose wife has held in abeyance his earnest desire to smoke his favorite pipe at dinner parties.

"The King Will Hold a Council To-day" is the complete announcement made in a London paper of an important event in English royal circles. Many Americans who shout their devotion to democracy and their contempt of kings will find it hard to understand how a newspaper can dispose of such an event in seven words.

Two Kentucky preachers recently indulged in a street scrap in which fists were used freely and each called the other names out of the Bible. Somehow or other there always seems to be something peculiarly inconsistent and incongruous in the spectacle of men attempting to inculcate the precepts of the Bible by the use of fists.

An organization to be known as the "Padlock Society" is soon to be started in Paris. Those joining it unlock a padlock, make a pledge, then lock the padlock. This is the pledge they make: "I promise to try my utmost never to say an unkind thing about anyone, whether true or untrue." Every New Year's Day the pledge must be renewed. The Padlock Society is a world league of sealed lips to stop the cheap, thoughtless gossip that causes so many heartaches in the world. Certainly there could be no more worthy task than to increase the number of those who guard their tongues against unkindness.

You make your ills all double
If over them you fret;
The one who borrows trouble
Takes on a heavy debt.

The village philosopher says: "One sure sign of the emancipation of women is that they've abandoned the smoothing iron and taken up the shooting iron."

Fashion experts predict that hoopskirts will come back. Horrors! Traffic is congested badly enough as it is.

If it is true that Henry Ford is losing $300,000 a month on his railroad, he might as well have tried showing old publishers how to run a newspaper.

Growing wheat and corn may stop Hay may be unfit to mow;
But politicians form a crop
That never fails to grow.

Eight millions Russians are said to be in need of aid. There are fully as many Americans as that who are not prosperous, but they still shuffle along just the same.

A really progressive metropolitan newspaper these days is one which furnishes its readers with a card index to help them keep up with all the murder mysteries in their columns.

The members of the American Bankers' Association believe in wetting their whistles. After their recent meeting held in New York City where they wrestled over great financial questions, the janitors carried out forty-three empty cases. Let's see, who attended from Paris?

No paper that is a live wire and has the interest and the welfare of the community at heart, can afford to oppose public improvements. But at the same time, it is its duty to see that the people's money is handled in a business and economical way, and to the best interest of the tax-payers, no difference who it is.

Uncle Sammy seems to be a little slow at times, but have patience and he will get there. It only took him twelve years to deliver a postal card from Evansville, Indiana, to Vincennes, a distance of fifty miles, and no women clerks on the route. The card was not even moth-eaten. And we recall that it once took two days for THE NEWS to get a letter that was mailed at Millersburg, only eight miles away!

These October weddings have caused the following wild thoughts to surge through the brain of the engineer of this column: The bride—blushing and beautiful she represents the wisdom of the ages, and the hope of the future years. In her is bound up the promise of experience. She is lovely in her innocence. She is a monarch in her potentialities. She is queen of the year, and she wears her crown with becoming dignity. There is no possibility of mistaking her prime importance to the ceremony, and why should there be, is she not the bride? And the groom, well, he is comparatively unimportant, but it is necessary that he should be there to say the responses. He is neat and nervous, or if he isn't neat he will hear about it afterward—probably from dear mother-in-law. The wedding would be a flat fizzle without him, but you would never guess that from the way the other rams push him around. He isn't even the best man, he's only the groom.

SHERIFF'S FEES CUT BY COURT OF APPEALS RULING

Sheriff's fees in the collection of school taxes must be paid out of the school fund and not out of the general fund, and the amount received cannot in any case exceed 1 per cent of the total school fund, the Court of Appeals at Frankfort held. The question was presented to the High Court on an appeal and cross appeal from the Jefferson Circuit Court in cases brought by William E. Ross, former Sheriff of Jefferson county.

HOW CAR WAS WRECKED

(Carlisle Mercury)

At a sharp curve on the Maysville and Lexington pike near the Bourbon Nicholas line, a wrecked automobile was found, practically all of the belongings having been removed. In the bottom of the car was a picture post card of a young man in the act of leaning over to kiss a young girl and underneath the printed statement, "Oh, this is so sudden."

The windshield, left fender and both wheels of the car were broken. It is not known who owned the car as the license plate had been removed.

D'YE MIND THE TIME

When These Things Happened In Paris, As Told In THE NEWS' Files?

DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

There's no denying that to most of us there is a certain satisfaction in reviewing the events of long ago, as they are presented to us, either casually or by force of some reminiscent strain of the moment. And to those who lived here in the long ago the recalling of events in the old days of Paris affords a peculiar satisfaction all its own. They, perhaps, more than we who have grown used to the old place, will appreciate these items, taken at random from a copy of THE BOURBON NEWS, of Tuesday, April 11, 1882:

Born, on April 7, to the wife of A. J. Dudley, a daughter.

Felix Lowry is delivering his tobacco here at 20 cents per pound—sold to Keller & McGraw, of Shawhan.

There were 75 excursionists from this place who went on the special train to Cynthiana to attend the Barnes meeting Sunday.

The Louisa Kleizer property where Mrs. Turney keeps a notion store, was sold at public sale Saturday, to Roger O'Conner, for $3,800.

In future, our Railroad Commissioner, F. L. McChesney, will make his headquarters in Frankfort, and Jimmie will be the guiding light of The Citizen.

Tice Hall, an aged and wealthy citizen of Scott county, died Saturday at Georgetown. He was a son-in-law of Ben Harris, of this place, and left an estate valued at $200,000.

Charlie White, an ex-editor at Maysville, cut Dr. John Mitchell a severe gash in the neck with a penknife, last week, in way of punctuating a little argument.

Capt. Dan Turney will add considerably more in way of improvements to the Blue Licks Hotel this season, in way of making room for his rapidly increasing trade. The Captain also proposes to put his shoulder to the wheels of a new enterprise in way of a railroad from the hotel to the Licking River bridge on the K. C., and in order to give the scheme a boost, will subscribe $15,000 in stocks. He only wants $20,000 more, and he will call it a "go."

Ed Fothergill, for many years the foreman of the True Kentuckian office, died of galloping consumption last Friday, at 11:30 a. m. He was in the 35th year of his age, and by dint of hard strokes, day and night, he accumulated a snug little start in life, which was invested in city property. His life was insured in the Ancient Order of United Workmen, for $6,200. This, with his other property, will be bequeathed by his brother, Charlie, and his sister, Mrs. Eph. January.

The remains of John Cronin, who committed suicide in Mt. Sterling, were buried in the stranger's lot of the Catholic Cemetery here, on Monday of last week. Cronin's brother, of Cynthiana, claimed that he had a right to bury the remains on his father's lot in the consecrated grounds, but being barred from that privilege, owing to it being in strict violation of the rules of the Catholic church, he appealed to Bishop Toebbe, of Covington, who confirmed the action of the church authorities here.

Last Friday, Mayor Hinton and Col. John Caldwell prepared two nice buckets of minnows, at an extravagant outlay of time and dollars and hid away five miles in the country, to have a big fishing spree with Will Ferguson. On arriving at the pond, they were overwhelmed with surprise, to find that they had left their two minnow buckets in town, and but for their happy streak of luck in finding a little willow-covered lunch basket with a cork stopper, they would have been all broken up with grief and sorrow. Moral: Always carry a little supply of grief-killer when you go fishing.

The Rev. Geo. O. Barnes will be invited by Capt. Turney, to spend two weeks at his Blue Licks hotel, to recreate the coming season.

Bro. Barnes has adjourned from Paris to Cynthiana, where the sinners believe the road to glory is hedged with still-houses, and Heaven itself is one huge bonded whisky warehouse.

Bro. Barnes and Miss Marie gladly greet some of their many Bourbon friends every day at Cynthiana. They appear like old home folks to them. Instead of finding Bourbon folks proud and haughty, they find them just the reverse.

Conductor Tom McLaughlin, of the K. C. line, now grins a glory smile at having full control over a whole line of new Oscar Wilde cars.

They are as yellow and bright as a field full of sunflowers or dandelions. Tom is too utterly happy to be living on this mundane sphere.

If all the new enterprises were to be suddenly consummated, which are set afoot by the Lexington newspapers, Paris would have to draw up, or Lexington would soon crowd her over into Stoner.

The True Kentuckian says that Ray Honey lives in Paris, and Jake Vinegar in Frankfort. We would like to know what of that? Jake Crabtree lives in Breathitt county; Jake Mitchelltree, in Nicholas county, and Jake Roundtree in Robertson county, while another Jake has Snapped himself away from Headquarters to Illinois.

Mr. Burt Scully, of Lexington, has moved to the Ogden farm near this city, and opened a training stable for race horses. He has 15 head now in training. The pink eye has been among his horses, and Ballard, one of the favorites for the Derby, has had a bad attack, but is now well and taking his work.

The Buick They Judge By

The Model "45" Six Cylinder Touring—$1195

The famous Buick five-passenger, six cylinder open model today, as in past years, sets the standard of automobile value.

It is the motor car by which others are judged because it represents the best of each year's developments in mechanical refinements, appearance and riding comfort.

The Buick Model "45" combines the characteristic Buick qualities of performance and stability with distinctive beauty and a completeness of appointments not to be found elsewhere.

We'll be pleased to give you a demonstration any time.

Better Body Construction

Braces in the body frames of Buick open models are bolted through the wooden frame work instead of being merely screwed into it. Bolting these braces prevents the joints from loosening under driving strains. Note how the bracket for the windshield post is bolted in seven places, making it absolutely rigid. In mounting the bodies on the chassis more bolts are used to secure the body.

The Buick Line for 1923 Comprises Fourteen Models:

Four—2 Pass. Roadster, $865; 5 Pass. Touring, $885; 3 Pass. Coupe, $1175; 5 Pass. Sedan, $1395; 5 Pass. Touring Sedan, $1325. Six—2 Pass. Roadster, $1175; 5 Pass. Touring, $1195; 5 Pass. "FLOATERS" HAVE DISAPPEARED

What has become of the voter that insisted upon have a drink before he would go and vote? When prohibition came he threatened never to vote again, but by this time he has gotten used to it and become accustomed to exercise suffrage without a stimulant.

Before prohibition, when whisky was regarded by many as an election essential, such a voter had to be reckoned with. Ordinarily he would resent being termed a "floater," but he could not be budged in the direction of the polls until he had been furnished with a "mule's earful" of mean whisky. After that he was willing to vote.

Another bane of the election worker is the voter that must be sent for repeatedly before he can be induced to go to the polls. He even has been known to pass the door of the voting place, but with a perverseness that is aggravating to the workers he will not vote until it suits his fancy, usually just before the polls close. Ordinarily he is a partisan and cannot be influenced in casting his vote but he keeps the workers on his side in hot water until he is marked off the list.

L. & N. BUYING ENGINES AND DOUBLE TRACKING

(Hazard Leader)
The L. & N. Railroad Company has purchased thirty-six new large type engines to be put in service in the coal fields of Kentucky. These engines are much larger than the heaviest now operating on this division and it is evident from this purchase and the buying of other equipment that the railroad company is expecting a vigorous revival in the coal business. That they believe in the Hazard field is also evidenced by the double tracking work that will be started this month.

Fifteen and one-half miles of double track will be laid, starting at South Hazard and going to Chavies.

We have sent Europe twenty-nine billion dollars. If any one man had that much in America he could afford to live at a hotel.

KENTUCKY NOW FOURTH IN PUREBRED CAMPAIGN

In three months during the summer past, Kentucky went from fifth to fourth place among all states in the number of farmers who have enrolled in the nation-wide "Better-Sires-Better-Stock" campaign by agreeing to use nothing but purebred sires in all their breeding work, according to the latest quarterly report on the project which has just been received at the College of Agriculture. During those three months, from July 1 until October 1, more farmers were enrolled in the movement in Union county than in any other county in the country, according to the report. County Agent L. C. Brewer, working in co-operation with the college extension division, enrolled 50 farmers in the drive for better livestock. Of the 573 enrollments that were obtained throughout the United States during the three months named, 246 came from Kentucky.

The drive for better livestock, which is being carried on in all States of the country by State agricultural colleges in co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture, is now in its fourth year the State of Kentucky stood at the bottom of the list of all States when the work started but has made steady progress and at the present time is preceded by Ohio, Virginia and Nebraska in the order named. Oldham county, where County Agent Gordon B. Nance is directing the work, has taken a prominent place in the drive, that county being one of 15 in which more than 100 farmers are enrolled.

Up to the present time, Oldham county is second, Christian third, Wayne fourth and Fulton fifth. Other Kentucky counties in which good work is being done in the drive to improve live stock are Todd, Allen, Barren, Carroll, Muhlenberg and Nelson. County agents in many counties of the State are making a definite start toward bettering livestock conditions by making livestock surveys to find out the number of grade, scrub and purebred animals in their districts.

BLUE GRASS SEED HELD BY GROWERS

(U. S. Government Bulletin)
Only about one-third of the 1922 crop of Kentucky bluegrass seed in Kentucky has been sold by growers, while in Missouri all but about 5% was reported as having been sold by October 17. The pool of growers in Kentucky, which controls practically all of the farmer-owned seed remaining unsold in that State, is not satisfied with prevailing offers of about $1.35-$1.50 per bushel for rough cured seed. They are expecting about $23 per 100 pounds for re-cleaned seed and it is reported that they intend to establish a selling price in the near future. Some of the Missouri dealers have been offering $1.60 per bushel for stray lots of rough cured seed outside of the pool in Kentucky and for the very small amount of good seed still unsold in the Missouri district.

During the week ending October 21, about 33,000 pounds of Kentucky bluegrass seed was exported from New York to France. Seedsmen's selling prices have advanced materially during the past few weeks and average of $25-$26 per 100 pounds for 21-pound seed.

LOCATING OLD STATIONS IN KENTUCKY

The locating of the fortified stations used by the pioneers in the opening up of Kentucky's wilderness in the seventeen hundreds has long been an interesting study, but it is only recently that definite information has been obtained concerning many of these pioneer stations in Central Kentucky, and the theme was discussed at the meeting of the Bradford Historical Society by the president, Professor A. M. Miller, who has done much research along this line. In the official list the following are credited to Bourbon county:

Cooper's, on Cooper's Run, two miles southwest of Kiser.

Grant's (Colonel John) near Lowe, (abandoned railroad station on the L. & N. R. R.) about five miles northeast of Bryant's. Settled in 1779, abandoned in 1780 and resettled in 1784.

Huston's, present site of Paris. Settled in 1776.

Martin's (John) on Stoner Creek, three miles below Paris. John Martin built a cabin here in 1775. Settled in 1779. Destroyed in 1780 by the British and Indians.

RICE NEXT KENTUCKY CROP?

The recent successful experiment of a Southern Indiana farmer in growing a crop of rice that netted a normal yield to the acre, raises the question as to whether the same thing cannot be done in Kentucky. Climatic and other conditions are about the same, it is pointed out, and the soil in some sections of the State may be adapted to the cultivation of rice in paying quantities.

Whether the cultivation of rice has ever been attempted in Kentucky is not known, but in the light of the southern Indiana experience it might be worth a trial.

The production of rice cultivation in the United States has been credited to Thomas Jefferson, the "Sage of Monticello," who while Minister to Italy, is said to have surreptitiously filled his pockets with rice for seeding. Prior to that the crafty Italian growers are said to have prevented the propagation of rice elsewhere by running the rice through a machine that bored a hole in each kernel and prevented germination.

Many of the crops for which Kentucky is famous were first tried as experiments and gradually brought up to their present status. Burley tobacco, now the leading staple crop of Central Kentucky, had a modest beginning fifty years ago.

KENTUCKY'S FAMOUS FINDS

The turning up of a pot containing the equivalent of $48,000 in British gold sovereigns of ancient coinage by a Pulaski county farmer while making an excavation recalls numerous like finds that have made Kentucky a veritable treasure trove. Every now and then some hidden treasure is unearthed in the State, and the aggregate of such finds in the last twenty years would represent a large sum.

While the Pulaski county find is supposed to have been buried in pioneer times, most of the hidden treasure unearthed in the State seems to have been secreted during the war between the States, when Kentucky, owing to the peculiar conditions that existed by reason of the intense sectional feeling, offered an incentive for hiding money and valuables.

In some cases the coinage dates of the hidden treasure establish the fact that it was buried during that period, and the theory is that the owners either failed to mark mark the hiding place or died during the war and left no evidence of hidden wealth.

Some finds of hidden treasure are never reported by those that unearth them. Only a few years ago the circulation of ancient coins in a certain section of the State was traced to a man who it developed had turned up a pot of money equal to $15,000 while plowing in field. Buried treasure has been found in practically every county in Kentucky, and the probabilities are that more of it will be unearthed from time to time.

CANTRILL FOR GOVERNOR?

Yesterday's Louisville Herald had the following first-column-first-page story from the pen of Robert E. Dundon, political writer, regarding the possible candidacy of Congressman-elect J. Campbell Cantrill for Governor of Kentucky:

"Regardless of the effort of a small coterie of Democratic politicians and Louisville newspapermen to 'handpick' the candidate of that party for Governor and to raise obstacles against worthy party members who may seek the nomination, the candidate will be selected by the party itself, and not by such individuals. The Herald learned on good authority last night.

"Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, it was learned from an unimpeachable source, is only delaying his announcement until what he deems to be the proper time, and is a certain starter for governor. Mr. Cantrill replied with a vigorous and pointed 'no' to overtures made to him to withdraw. He is now in Lexington, but will leave for Washington the latter part of this week.

"It was also learned that Mr. Cantrill will not consent to the plan, reported to have been concocted in Louisville, by this same inner cabal, to substitute a nominating convention for a primary. The Seventh District Congressman insists that the Democrats pursue their time-honored policy of settling the nomination by a State-wide primary.

"Alben W. Barkley, of Paducah, the First District candidate, also has affirmed his stand in favor of a primary. A majority of the present Democratic State Central Committee takes the same attitude.

"Mr. Cantrill is quoted as saying that the League of Women Voters and other similar organizations have for their cardinal principle the upholding of the direct primary, and that the women 'would not support a candidate selected in any other way.'"

FORMER BOURBON MAN IN THE ORIENT

THE NEWS is in receipt of a letter from W. Renick Smith, grandson of Mrs. Wm. H. Renick, of Paris, who is now in China, as advance agent for the Adele Blood Dramatic Co., touring the Orient. In the letter Mr. Smith enclosed a clipping from the Kobe Japan Herald, of October 9, giving a resume of Miss Blood's triumphs and the tour she is contemplating in foreign lands. Mr. Smith said, in part:

"I have found Japan most intriguing, a land of romance and color. China is different, it's very interesting, in contrast, but its natives are not so easy to study. I find the poverty here appalling and woman in China is a thousand years behind the times. Here man is king and poor little wife, often with bound feet, is a non-entity."

"There is a large English population in Shanghai, and quite a few enterprising Americans — of course being Americans, they would be enterprising. I go from here in advance of Miss Blood's company to Manila, Hongkong, Singapore, Calcutta and Bombay, India. Shall likely spend Christmas in either Singapore, Rangoon or in Calcutta."

SUNDAY AUTO ACCIDENTS

Miss Elizabeth Rule, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rule, of Paris, was slightly injured about the right hip, and Miss Hazel Arnold, of Lexington, formerly of Paris, bruised and cut, and Miss Henrietta Muth, of Lexington, had her lip split, as the result of an auto accident which took place Sunday afternoon, near Lexington.

The young ladies were riding on a truck, belonging to the Muth Baking Company, and driven by Al Muth, of Lexington, at a point about three and one-half miles from Lexington. In endeavoring to avoid a machine which made a sudden turn to get in a gateway just ahead of them, the truck was overturned. Young Muth was comparatively unhurt. They were picked up by passers-by and taken to the St. Joseph's Hospital, where their injuries were treated. Miss Rule was not seriously injured, and was able to be brought to her home in this city yesterday. The machine was badly damaged.

A machine in which Miss Annabelle Ward, manager of the Paris Grand and Alamo, her brother and sister were riding on High street, collided Saturday morning at the corner of Twelfth and High streets, with a machine driven by a man named Taylor, of Cynthiana, who was en route to Lexington. Both machines were considerably damaged, but the occupants escaped with a severe shaking up.

POTATOES AT BOTH ENDS

(Cynthiana Democrat)
Julian Caldwell, bachelor farmer of Pointexter, brought to The Democratic office a curiosity in the shape of a potato vine with several potatoes growing on each end. How this particular vine happened to be playing both ends against the middle is not apparent, unless it learned the trick from Julian. It can establish double action potatoes as a regular thing all over the world.

FORMER P. H. S. SUPERINTENDENT DEAD IN BROOKLYN

Prof. Eli Witwer Weaver, at one time Superintendent of the Paris City Schools, and one of the best-known educators in America, died at his home, No. 25 Jefferson avenue, in Brooklyn, New York, after an illness of two weeks from pernicious anemia. Prof. Weaver was in his sixty-first year. He will be well-remembered here by hundreds of students, who were under his care and instruction in the old Paris City School. The Brooklyn Eagle has the following:

"Rarely has a school teacher taken the deep interest in his students that was manifested by Mr. Weaver. He not only guided them in their efforts to secure employment, but also carefully watched their progress in order to see that they did not get into business ruts. Thousands of his pupils to-day owe their progress to his skillful aid. It was his outstanding purpose in life to see that the boys and girls he came in contact with got a good start in life.

"An outgrowth of his work was the formation of the Students Employment Committee of the High School Teachers' Association.

"Mr. Weaver came from an old Pennsylvania Dutch family and was born at Churchtown, Pa., on Aug. 5, 1862, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Weaver. He was graduated from the Pennsylvania State Normal School and New York University and first entered educational work in the South. He was for a short time Superintendent of Schools at Paris, Bellevue and Carrollton, Ky. He came to New York in 1900 and shortly afterwards was appointed assistant teacher of mathematics in Boys' High School. He spent his entire career as a New York City teacher in this school.

"Since his retirement three years ago, Mr. Weaver devoted most of his time to vocational guidance work and lectured at the Teachers' College in Columbia University on this subject. He also lectured for the Y. M. C. A., and wrote a number of books on the subject, among them being: 'Building a Career,' 'Profitable Vocations for Boys,' 'Profitable Vocations for Girls,' and 'Medicine as a Profession.'

"His health was affected somewhat the loss of two sons, who were in the service during the World War. One son, Luther O. Weaver, was one of the first Brooklyn lads to die in the war, being a victim of the sinking of the U. S. patrol boat, Alcedo, sunk on Nov. 5, 1917. The two other sons, Lt. John H. Weaver, who was in the Naval aviation service during the war, was injured in an airplane accident at the Marine Corps station, Paris Island, S. C., in August, 1920, while awaiting his discharge, and died a few days later.

"Mr. Weaver is survived by his wife, Susan E. Oberlin, whom he married in 1887, four daughters, Amy, Elizabeth, Mary and Mrs. Bertha Liebenschperger, and three sons, Paul, Ernest and James Weaver, and seven brothers and two sisters. He was an elder in the Classon Avenue Presbyterian church where his funeral services were conducted by the Rev. R. M. Huston, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment was in Greenwood Cemetery."

THE GRIDIRON FIELD

The game scheduled for Saturday between the M. M. I. and the Carlisle High School teams was postponed to Wednesday, November 29, by mutual agreement, on account of four of the M. M. I. team being disabled or sick. M. M. I. has scheduled a game with the Kentucky Military Institute to be played on the M. M. I. grounds on November 24. The teams are evenly matched.

There are only two military schools in the State and this will be the first time the teams have met. The alumni is endeavoring to make this game a home-coming for former students and graduates. The M. M. I. and Lexington Model High School teams are scheduled for a game on Saturday, November 18, at 2:30 p. m., on the home grounds.

Somers High and Paris High School teams played a 7 to 7 game at Somers Friday afternoon. The Somers team had expected a rather easy game, and were greatly surprised when Paris Hi put up an unusually strong game. Somers backs fumbled the ball ten times during the afternoon, and did not recover the ball but once. Somers alleges that this was (the reason Paris scored. A large crowd attended.

The Picadome High School football team of Fayette county defeated the M. M. I. team at Millersburg Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. The features of the game were the thirty and thirty-five yard run made by William and Cook, respectively, of the Picadome eleven. The visitors' marker came in the third period when Price went through the Millersburg line for a touchdown, Cook failing to kick goal.

MEMORIAL BUILDING FREE FROM DEBT

Not a cent of indebtedness rests on the new Memorial Building, which was dedicated Saturday during the Armistice Day exercises, according to an announcement made by Miss Lucy Blythe Simms, chairman of the Memorial Building Fund. When the building was turned over to the trustees it was with the understanding that all indebtedness had been officially settled.

For many months the fund committee was undecided whether to erect a monument in the public square or a memorial building to Bourbon county's former service men. The building will also be used as a community center. At a meeting of the Executive Committee a committee was appointed to equip and furnish a ladies' rest room for the Community House.

The new Board of Managers is composed of Arthur B. Hancock, for the county-at-large, chairman, N. Ford Brent, Harold Harris, Jos. Davis, Jr., and Lucien Harrisperger, for the American Legion; Mrs. Jas. McClure, Mrs. Allie Smith Dickson and Mrs. Wm. O. Hinton, were selected by the Women's Club, not as representatives of that organization, but for the women of the county at large.

THE QUADRENNIAL SNARE

Nothing is calculated to stir up more bickering in a Kentucky community than a vote on allowing stock to run at large. When this question is up for settlement it is apt to relegate to the background the tariff, reparations, ship subsidy and the like until it is determined whether the owner must keep his cattle within an inclosure or be allowed to turn them out to roam at will.

Where in one precinct a large majority of citizens may be in favor of penning up the stock, in the very next precinct it may be just the reverse.

The last Legislature amended the stock law by permitting the proposition to be submitted every two years instead of four years as before. The validity of the amendment is now before the Court of Appeals and upon the decision will depend whether some communities will become embroiled in a biennial quadrennial quarrel over the question.

The world is anxiously awaiting for some kind of dependable plan whereby it can reform some of its reformers.

COURT NEWS

The Lexington Herald says: "Mrs. Pearl Robinson, who was arrested last week by prohibition officers, charged with transporting liquor and a conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, when she had her preliminary trial before Charles N. Ward, United States Commissioner, at the Federal building was promptly vindicated and dismissed.

"It developed on the trial of the case that Roy Sutherland, a distant relative of Mrs. Robinson, was working in the interest of another person, who is the defendant in a case now pending at Paris, Ky."

PARIS COUPLE LEGALLY ADOPT HOMELESS BOY

The handsome blue-eyed boy baby, who was brought to Lexington several days ago by Mrs. Leila Thomas, of Oakdale, Tenn., who stated that it was thrust into her arms in Knoxville by an unknown woman who asked her to mother it, has found a permanent home with Mr. and Mrs. Ireland Davis, of Paris, and the homeless infant of unknown parentage will be tenderly cared for as their own child.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, having lost their infant son only a short time before, upon learning of the condition of the waif, came to Lexington and made application to County Judge E. H. Doak, to adopt it. Judge Doak consented for them to have the child, pending inquiry which might develop information concerning its parentage.

Judge Doak stated Saturday that he had failed to learn anything of the child's parentage, and since Mr. and Mrs. Davis had evinced a desire to adopt it and give it a good home, their wishes would be gratified.

Adoption papers will be prepared as soon as Mr. and Mrs. Davis come to Lexington again, which will be some time this week and the youngster, who is thriving at his new home, will be legally transferred to them as their heir.

HOME OF MISS ARKLE IS BURNED

The residence of Miss Ida Arkle, on the Jackstown pike, the former home of the late Sidney G. Clay, was destroyed by fire shortly after noon Saturday. Miss Arkle lost practically all her household goods. She is engaged in the dairy business, and was in Paris at the time her home was consumed by the fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss on the building, which is owned by James M. McClure, is partly covered by insurance, but Miss Arkle carried no insurance on her household goods.

The Test of Character

"The president of a big corporation gave this as this reason why his company employed salesmen on a commission basis only:

"It's the best test of character we can apply. If a man hasn't saved enough money to carry himself a month or so he's rarely the kind who can measure up to the opportunity we offer."

"Why not take a fixed amount out of your salary every pay day and put it to work in an interest bearing account at this bank? It will then enable you to grasp opportunity when it comes.

"Pay yourself first—it's the sensible thing to do.

In order to encourage the Farmers' Housewives with the Turkey Raising industry, which is a very trying job, as it requires constant care and vigilance to bring up the delicate young fowls to their turkeyhood, we have decided to put a premium on your turkey money, and since money is only a medium of exchange we will exchange your turkey money with a ten per cent (10 per cent) premium for our Shoes and Hose during the turkey-selling season.

FOR INSTANCE

If you realize $10 for the sale of your turkeys we will accept it for $11 (eleven dollars) in exchange for Shoes or Stockings. You all know the standard and quality of our Shoes. We handle nothing but solid leather shoes from the very best and most reliable shoe manufacturers in the country, and our prices are the lowest possible, considering the quality, every pair marked in plain figures. So come direct with your turkey money to Friedman's Shoe Store and get a ten per cent (10 per cent) premium on each and every dollar of your purchase.

THANKSGIVING DONATIONS FOR MASSIE HOSPITAL

Now is the time of year when the "shut-ins" at the Massie Memorial Hospital begin to wonder if, in the midst of the festive Thanksgiving season, they will be remembered. And at the same time those in charge of the Hospital begin to wonder if the good people of the city and county will remember the larder with donations of good things to eat. Our people have been very generous in this respect in the past, and it is now hoped they will not fail at this time. Donations may be left at any place suitable and convenient for the donors, with a request that the Hospital authorities be notified, or, better still, sent direct to the Hospital.

The lady members of the Board of Managers of the institution announce that they are very grateful for past liberal donations to the Hospital, and that the citizens of the city and county will be called upon during the week by members of the Board for the annual Thanksgiving donations. It is hoped our people will make their usual liberal response.

RELIGIOUS

A Resume of Events in Religious Circles For Present and Future

—Rev. Arthur Fox, former pastor of the Paris Baptist church, now in charge of the congregation of the Baptist church at Mayfield, Ky., preached last night in the Paris church to his former congregation, at seven o'clock.

With the services Sunday night, the revival meeting which has been in progress at the Presbyterian church for the past three weeks, came to a successful close. The closing service was attended by one of the largest audiences that has gathered in the church since the inception of the meeting. Rev. Dr. Thacker was in fine voice, and his eloquence attested the quality of the message he had to deliver. His hearers attested their appreciation of the speaker by giving him their undivided attention. The musical part of the services was in the hands of T. B. Roddy, song leader, with the assistance of a specially trained choir. A feature of the Sunday afternoon program was the mass meeting for men and boys, when Dr. Thacker delivered an interesting address on the subject, "What Constitutes a Fool."

At the morning service Dr. Thacker took for his subject, "Man Essentially Religious," which he treated in a broadguage manner. At the evening service his subject was "The Philosophy of Living," pronounced by all who heard it to have been a masterpiece of eloquence and thought.

Dr. and Mrs. Thacker left Monday afternoon for North Carolina. Mr. Roddy leaves this morning. Dr. Thacker will hold his next meeting in Gastonia, N. C. During the meeting here there were 650 cards signed by Christians consecrating their lives, 29 cards signed signifying the purpose to transfer church membership to some of the churches of Paris, 39 signed cards making a confession of faith in Jesus Christ as their Saviour. Those of this number who wish to unite with the Presbyterian church will be received at the morning service next Sunday. Those who wish to unite with the other churches will make arrangements with the pastors of these churches for their reception.

MINISTER ACCEPTS CALL

Rev. Louis S. Gaines, of Springfield, Ohio, to whom the congregation of the Paris Baptist church recently extended a call to become their pastor, has formally accepted the call. He will succeed Rev. Arthur Fox, who some time ago resigned the pastorate to accept the pastorate of the Mayfield, Ky., Baptist church.

Rev. Mr. Gaines has for the past three years been assistant pastor of the First Baptist church at Springfield, Ohio. He was for four years the Ohio State Secretary of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union and was at one time a missionary worker in Southern Indiana.

The new pastor received his education at Dennison University and at the Southern Baptist Seminary at Louisville. He is married and has an infant child. Rev. Gaines has occupied the pulpit of the Paris church several times since the resignation of Rev. Arthur Fox, and at a business meeting of the members of the church received his call to the Paris pastorate. He and his family will move to Paris immediately.

AGED ACCOUNT BOOK

(Owingsville Outlook)

An old account book of Slate Creek furnace was discovered in the Circuit Clerk's office a few days ago, where it had been for more than a hundred years as an exhibit in a suit between Col. Thomas Dye Owings and Robert Wickliffe. The keeper of this book was an artist in penmanship. The writing was done with a quill pen on unlined pages, every line being perfectly straight and as eligible as print. This was back in the good old days when meal was 50 cents a bushel, beef 3 cents a pound, axes $4 apiece and whisky 12½ cents a pint. The book is filled with accounts against people, all of whom are gone and the names of but few are remembered.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. (adv-T)

MICE AND RABBITS START DAMAGING WORK ON TREES

This is the time of the year when farmers and orchard owners must be on guard to keep their fruit trees from being girdled and ruined by rabbits and mice, according to W. W. Magill, orcharding specialist of the College of Agriculture. These rodents often damage trees before owners know it and in some cases do more harm than insects. Fruit trees in some parts of the State already have been almost completely ruined by rabbits and mice. Cleaning the trash and rubbish away from the trees and then placing tobacco stems, newspapers or woven wire netting around them is the best way to stop the damage caused by these rodents.

"Cleaning the trash and rubbish away from around trees with a hoe or mattock is a big step in stopping the damage done to trees by mice since these pests make their roadways under this trash. Woven wire netting costs more than corn or tobacco stalks, but it is cheaper in the long run since it can be used for seven or eight years while the corn or tobacco stalks must be replaced each year. A piece of woven wire 18 inches high and from 18 to 24 inches long, when bent around the tree and fastened at the ends, will stand out far enough to shield the tree and give enough room for the tree to make several years' growth. The mesh of the netting should not be longer than one inch. Trees can be saved by the use of the wire netting for a cost of about four cents each. In case a deep snow falls, trees may be shielded by lifting the cylinder of wire and packing the snow at the base of the tree. This is done to save the tree from the mice which do their work under the crust and the rabbits which work on top of the snow.

"If paper, corn or tobacco stalks are used, they should be tied around the trunk of the tree, the stalks being stood on end. These must be removed in the spring, as they furnish a good hiding place for insect pests."

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. (adv-T)

DOG GOOD COMEBACKER

The recent State fox hunters meet and the field trials accentuated the breeding of foxhounds, and the dogs are represented in the chase all over the country.

The late Col. Jack Chinn was a noted breeder of foxhounds and the dogs from his kennels were eagerly sought. Colonel Chinn was wont to relate an experience in which one of his dogs figured. He sold one of his prize foxhounds to a man in Texas and shipped the dog to him, but not long afterward he learned that the dog had disappeared, probably stolen. Colonel Chinn thought no more of the matter until several months later when one morning the missing dog turned up lean and used-up from the long journey from Texas, which Colonel Chinn insisted the dog made to get back to the "Old Kentucky Home."

Colonel Chinn declared that he immediately notified the Texas man of the dog's return and sent him a check for the amount he had paid for the animal, at the same time telling him that he would not think of parting again with the dog that had footed it from Texas to Kentucky to return home.

How does it happen, that in a country of one hundred million people, honest and sincere men never get elected to office,

BLUEGRASS SEEDS BEAT ARABS

Of interest to Kentucky was the recent horse endurance contest conducted under the auspices of the army remount service. After the 300-mile ride the honors went to the thoroughbred over the Morgans, Arabs and other equine strains that competed in the endurance contest that was held in Vermont under the supervision of United States army officers.

Since the superiority of the thoroughbred horse as an army mount has been established, it is expected to prove a stimulus to the Kentucky breeding interests and also settles a long disputed point that has been the subject of much controversy.

The late General John B. Castleman, Louisville, was a great believer in the endurance powers of the American saddle horse. Some years ago when Homer Davenport, celebrated cartoonist, brought a string of fine Arabs to Kentucky for show purposes, General Castleman proposed an endurance contest limited to three types and the thoroughbred in order to settle the mooted point.

General Castleman proposed to enter the contest his famous saddle mare, Emily, and he stipulated that the animal should be ridden by Lieut. "Wild Bill" Reed, then a cavalry officer and expert horseman. After everything was arranged for the contest for some reason it was abandoned.

The officer selected by General Castleman to have the mount on his great mare in the endurance contest was the late Lieut. Colonel William O. Reed.

"Forget and Forgive."

A proverb which is quoted by Shakespeare in "King Lear," and which sums up one of the greatest and most difficult lessons of Christianity. As W. E. Norris very cleverly says: "We may forgive and we may forget, but we can never forget that we have forgiven."

It might frighten folks a bit, but not make them better, if conscience used a megaphone.

TWO FISH AT ONCE

(Lawrenceburg News)

"Two birds with one stone," is a common expression, but two fish at one strike, is the story which Joe Searcy, rural mail carrier, is relating on his return from a fishing trip on Brashears Creek, Shelby county.

Mr. Searcy avers that he was fishing with two hooks, using minnows for bait. "I got a strike," he said, "and had so much trouble landing that I thought I had a baby whale, but it proved that I had hooked a two pound channel cat and a one pound bass."

A lot of folks who hang around Washington are trying hard to make Uncle Sam "A Poor Relation."

A military ace is one who can raise the deuce with the enemy.

HOT FIGHT HELD LIKELY

Two factors are likely to focus interest in the next adoption of textbook for Kentucky schools in 1924. Adoption is held every five years. One factor is the objection recently voiced by the Sons of the American Revolution against a certain American history used in the schools of this State which it speaks disparagingly of figures in the Revolutionary War.

An organization of the character of the Sons of the Revolution backed by allied organizations like the Daughters of the Revolution and the Colonial Dames may be expected to make such a protest felt and arouse considerable sentiment.

The next School Textbook Commission is destined to encounter another element in opposition to some books now being used. Defeated in the last Legislature after a long and bitter fight, opponents of the theory of evolution, which they charge was being taught in schools, announced that they would carry the fight before the State Textbook Commission in the effort to prevent the selection of textbooks alleged to promote this theory.

With two societies going after histories and anti-monkey origin advocates seeking to suppress the theory of evolution, men charged with the selection of school books will be relieved of monotony in proceedings.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

MISS HARLOFF IS ELATED OVER 25 POUNDS GAIN

People who have suffered until they have become discouraged and out of heart should gain hope by the experience of Miss Ida Harloff, 1823 Chase street, Toledo, O., who declares: "I have gained twenty-five pounds by taking Tanlac and am as strong, well and happy as if I had never been sick a day."

"I had suffered from indigestion and poor circulation for a year or more and when my father started me on Tanlac I scarcely had strength to put one foot in front of the other. I was so thin and frail the folks at home were all uneasy about my health and, to tell the truth, I was scared nearly out of my wits, for I thought I would never get well."

"But since taking Tanlac my nerves are normal, my stomach in fine condition, and my health as good as I could ask it to be. Tanlac has my highest praise."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. (adv)

THE PAL'S GREETING

What is so good, when the day is all dreary,

When life is a gloom, and your heart is a-weary,

To suddenly hear ringing out loud and cheery:

"Good Morning, Old Pal."

Things will go wrong, and some job you are doing

Will bust; and the dream that your heart is pursuing

Will break; but you suddenly stop all your rueing

At "Hello, Old Pal."

Life would be futile and barren and broken,

If out of the kingdom of love's ne'er were spoken

The word that is friendship's best symbol and token:

"God Bless You, Old Pal."

Thang God for the pals who are never forgetting,

Who just at the moment our sad hearts are fretting,

Put an end to our gloom and our dreary regretting

With "Cheer Up, Old Pal."

Some day when the heart turns forever to dreaming,

And over our eyes Heaven's glory is streaming,

How good it will be mid the stars' deathless gleaming

To hear "Welcome, Old Pal."

SMALLEST BANK

In the town of Normal, a small suburb of Lincoln, Neb., is what is thought to be the smallest bank in the country. It was organized three years ago, with a capital of $15,000. A small frame structure, only 16x20 feet, it represents a total amount of resources which might easily be the envy of a much larger banking house, for its stockholders are conservatively estimated to be worth upward of $2,000,000.

SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT IS UNLAWFUL

Judge A. Burgevin, in Louisville, instructed a jury to acquit Robert Davis, negro, who has appealed from a fine of $100 imposed in police court for unlawfully transporting moonshine whisky. It was shown by the proof that Sergeant J. P. Staley arrested the negro on a street car after searching a basket and finding the liquor. Judge Burgevin held the officers did not have the right to search the basket without a search warrant, under a recent decision of the Court of Appeals, declaring that a man's suitcase is his personal property.

Aunt Mary tells her side of the story of the trip to Cincinnati:

Henry, he thinks he's pretty smart telling you all about how I forgot to pack those things in the grip. All the time I kept asking him if there was anything else he could think of to put in and he said there wasn't a thing he could think of. I know he was so excited about our trip he couldn't think of anything. Ain't that just like a man to blame me for leaving out his things? Seems like a woman has to do all the remembering for the whole family. Well it's all over and we laughed it off but it does make me spunky to get faulted for something I never did.

Well, we went to Mabley's and bought the things that Henry had forgot to tell me to put in the grip and had them sent over to the hotel and then a nice girl told us about the new children's department on the top floor. I could see that Henry wanted to get out-doors and go looking at buildings and things but I never could see the sense of star-gazing at a lot of bricks and stuff, when there's so many pretty things to look at. But I must say that he was very nice about it to go along with me. Maybe he thought we might meet up with some more old friends around there. I had a suspicion once that he was interested in some of the good looking girls but then I know that Henry is a deacon and besides that he knows better.

Well, we went up to Mabley's children's store and there was the most wonderful sight I ever beheld. A big store room just for boys and girls things. The nicest kind of young men and girls showed us around and I had the best time looking and pricing.

I bought a new coat for little Mary and a suit for little Henry and warm sweaters for each of the other children.

After a while I thought we ought to get something for the big boys so we asked the young man what he thought about it and he said why not take each one of them a nice new hat. So we went down to the hat department and met a nice boy from West Ohio who took a lot of pains to show us all the hats. He wanted to know all about the boys and how big they were and what size they wore. We were stumped for a minute until I remembered that each of those boys was as tall as their father and mostly wore the same size of hats and shoes as Henry. Now you see how a woman has to do all the remembering. A man just can't think in a hurry like that.

So we bought a nice hat for each of the boys and started on out when Henry said: "Mother, why not get the boys a nice pair of shoes?" We went over to the shoe department and bought the nicest shoes I ever saw—I know the boys will be tickled.

By this time, we were both getting tired and I know that Henry was hungry—men always are. And so we went right next door in Mabley's Annex and had the nicest meal I ever ate outside my own house. Of course I don't stand back for any cook in our County or anywhere else for all that.

Henry, he wanted to smoke so we went over and sat down on a bench and he filled his pipe with Burley and we sat and talked.

Then, we went to the Zoo and maybe Henry will tell you about that some other time.

Yours Truly,

Mary.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church will have a Christmas bazaar, December 28, of fancy works and edibles. They are also prepared to take orders for cakes and edibles for your Thanksgiving dinner.

Col. W. R. Nelson and the cadets, of Millersburg Military Institute, had a prominent place in the parade at the dedicatory exercises of the Memorial Building in Paris, November 11, and in the afternoon attended the Alamo Theatre.

Prof. W. P. Johnson, Mrs. Johnson and children, Virginia Bedford, Emily and Frederick Fisher Johnson, of Bagdad, Ky., were weekend guests of Dr. C. C. Fisher and Mrs. Fisher. Professor and Mrs. Johnson were former members of the faculty of Millersburg College. Mrs. Johnson before her marriage was Miss Roth.

The Epworth League members of the Methodist church entertained Thursday evening in the Sunday School room of the church, with a "Tacky Party." The guests were the faculty, Juniors and Seniors of M. M. I. Millersburg College, and Millersburg High School, and Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church. The guests wore all kinds of costumes, Marjory Howard winning first prize for the tackiest costume, Paul Eckler, as the best impersonator, representing Charlie Chaplin, Col. W. R. Nelson, Mr. Bonar and Mrs. W. M. Miller, acting as judges. After the grand march the guests were seated and hot chocolate and sandwiches were served. Several games were played and enjoyed by the one hundred and twenty-five guests present.

The marriage of Miss Minnie Sanders, of Millersburg, and Mr. J. F. Dalzell of Bourbon county, was solemnized at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. O. B. Crockett, pastor of the Paris Methodist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanders, the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dalzell. The bride wore a suit of blue broadcloth, hat and gloves to match. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dalzell came to Millersburg as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Leggett.

Mrs. W. D. McIntyre was hostess to about eighteen friends with a noon luncheon Friday in honor of Mrs. H. Kerby. After the luncheon a unique feature of the evening was the making of a complete outfit of crepe paper for the guest of honor. The beautiful gowns, hats and coats were fine imitations of the latest models of the present styles. The house decorations were white and yellow chrysanthemums and ferns.

The football game that was to have been played on Saturday, November 11, has been postponed until Wednesday, November 29. Four of the regular backfield men of the M. M. I. team were either sick or injured, and the Carlisle team agreed to the postponement under these conditions. A game of football has been arranged with the Kentucky Military Institute to be played in Millersburg on November 24. As this is the first time the two teams have met in Millersburg and they being the only two military schools in Kentucky, a good game is expected. The alumni is making this a real home-coming day for former students and graduates. The two teams seem to be evenly matched this year and a hard fight will no doubt be required for either team to win. On Saturday, November 18, at 2:30 p. m. M. M. I. boys will play the gridiron warriors from the Lexington Model Hi School. November 10 Picadome High School football team of Fayette county defeated the M. M. I. here 6 to 0. The features of the game were the 30 and 55 yard runs made by Williams and Cooke, respectively, of the Picadome eleven. The visitors' marker came in the third period when Price went through the Millersburg line for a touchdown, Cook failing to kick goal.

GILSON

Walter Gilson, aged sixty-four, died at his home in Lexington, Saturday night after a long illness. He had been an engineer on the Louisville & Nashville for forty years. Mr. Gilson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Gilson, two daughters, Mrs. Edward Gilchrist, whose husband was at one time in partnership in the plumbing business in Paris with Thos. W. Spicer, and three sons, Walter, Alvin and Edward Gilson.

The funeral was held at the family home in Lexington yesterday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, with services conducted by Rev. Hayes Farish. The interment followed on the family lot in the Lexington Cemetery.

LODGE NOTES

Representatives from the Bourbon county Odd Fellows lodges will go to Eminence, Thursday, to take part in the initiation of a class of twenty-five candidates. The occasion will be made a gala day in honor of the election of J. C. Heiburn, of Eminence, to the office of Grand Master for the coming year.

Twenty members of P. I. McCarthy Council, Knights of Columbus, Paris, went to Falmouth, Sunday afternoon, and were guests of the Falmouth K. of C. Council. After assisting in initiation work, a social session was held. The Paris Knights reported the Falmouth K. of C. as being live wires and princely entertainers.

The Pythian Sisters, women's auxiliary of the Knights of Pythias, will hold their social session on Thursday night, November 23, the regular meeting night of Rathbone Lodge K. of P. All members are requested to bring their wives, daughters or sweethearts. Hon. Harry Schobert, Grand Representative to the Supreme Lodge K. of P., is expected to be present and deliver an address. The Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters is also expected. After the program is completed refreshments will be served.

BAD TIME TO HUNT GOVERNMENT JOB

The number of civil service employees on the Government rolls (exclusive of Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and legislative employees) is now 559,663, the smallest number since the United States entered the war. At the time of the armistice, November 11, 1918, the number was 917,760. The number of separations in the last four years has been 358,097.

The civil service employees in Washington number 68,718. Separations in Washington, the chief center for Federal employees, are proceeding at the rate of 400 per month.

At the beginning of the war there were 40,000 employees in Washington. Because of war activities the number jumped to 117,760. The reduction has been slow, and the figure never will be so low as it was in 1916, because of the new activities of the Government as a result of the war. The chief additions have been in the Treasury Department and in the Veterans' Bureau. There will be further reductions in the forces of the War Department, the Navy Department, the United States Shipping Board, the Railroad Administration, and the Alien Property Custodian's Office. It is thought that 60,000 clerks will be the level finally to be reached in Washington and 475,000 for the nation.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE OF NEWS-PAPER WOMAN.

The "thirty," which Miss Eleanor Wood wrote to her journalistic career at Ashland was the shortest story she had ever turned in, yet her own romance was the subject. "Married," said a note penned at her desk when she stopped on the way to a train for Maysville. Mere details, which another reporter had to dig were that this fair daughter of a Maysville banker, who came to Ashland a month ago sure that newspaper work was her vocation, had been married to James S. Moose, Jr., Little Rock, her sweetheart at the University of Missouri, who had come to visit her and wouldn't subscribe to any of her theories about a "career." He is in the cotton-oil business in Arkansas. The surprise which the marriage afforded extended even to the parents of the principals.

REAL ESTATE DEALS

W. R. Moore and Patterson Moore, of Lexington, have purchased from J. W. Thacker, the 380-acre farm on the Paris and Georgetown pike, known as the Hatcher place. This is one of the finest farms in this section and has a handsome ten-room brick house and good barns. The purchasers will get possession March 1, and will move to that place. The purchase price was not announced.

A. B. Harney, of Cynthiana, sold this week for Mrs. Robert Padgett her farm of forty-six acres, located on the pike between Jones' Shop and Ruddies Mills, to Ed. Kennedy, of Bourbon county, for a price not given out for publication. During "boom" times this farm sold twice, once for $13,000, and again for $15,000, and was finally returned. This time it brought considerably less, though a good price for the times.
